

Shoppers Guide for Berry Plants in the Mid-Atlantic and the Carolinas

Zachary Landis, Research Intern, Hampton Roads Agricultural Research and Extension Center, Department of Horticulture

Jayesh Samtani, Assistant Professor and Small Fruit Extension Specialist, Hampton Roads Agricultural Research and Extension Center, Department of Horticulture

This article is intended to serve as a resource for new and experienced Mid and South-Atlantic small fruit growers, home gardeners, and educators to locate and procure quality berry plants and to identify nurseries that may carry specific varieties of interest. All of the information included in the article was identified through the websites of the respective nurseries or from communications with the nursery representatives. Although it has been our attempt to capture all available providers, this list may not be an all-inclusive list. We also do not endorse any of these listed nurseries. Please note that varieties included in the charts are based upon those provided by the nurseries for the 2016-2017 growing season, and are subject to slight changes in the following years.

 Aaron's Creek Farms – 380 Greenhouse Dr., Buffalo Junction., VA 24529

Phone: (434) 374-2174 Website: www.acfplugins.com

Aaron's Creek Farms is a whole sale nursery that provides strawberry plants as plugs. They have their own delivery routes within 150 miles of them that guarantee one week shipping and usually within 48 hours. However, they do ship all over the country using FedEx. They have 4 main varieties they grow and sometime rotate in new options depending on availability. Their four regular varieties are Chandler,

Sweet Charlie, Festival, and Camarosa. The other varieties they also try to include are Albion, Radiance, and San Andreas.
